Visit the new APC Overnight website

As your local APC Overnight depot, we are delighted to invite you to view the new APC website. It's had a complete overhaul to reflect developments in the APC Overnight network, make it easier to use, and bring it visually into line with our brochures and leaflets. But don't worry – familiar functions such as online tracking are unchanged, and of course the address is still www.apc-overnight.com!

What's new?

Apart from giving the website a complete facelift in looks, we've made practical improvements in several areas:

- Comprehensive "Delivery Options" page gives you all the options at a glance, with details on click-through pop-up windows, while the rollover map shows which services are available in which areas.
- More customer news: companies all over the country rely on APC Overnight as their delivery partner of choice, so we've talked to them about their experiences and will feature their stories.
- New customers: This new section explains our depot system so that people know who to talk to, and outlines the advantages of using APC Overnight, including our timed deliveries, specialist sector expertise, and integrated ordering systems.

- User-friendly language for interactive pages. We have examined the all-important sections where people request information from us to make sure that our answers are clear and comprehensive.
- Information is grouped for ease of use so it's obvious where to look! Topics are now on dropdown menus under logical headings "Delivery options" "Info & advice" "About APC Overnight" and "New customers".
- Try out our handy online volumetric calculator on the Info & Advice page

Don't worry – the main functions are unchanged

Please rest assured that all the functions you use every day are still there, and mostly in exactly the same place! You'll log in via "My APC" using your existing User ID and password from the left-hand sidebar, as always, and all the navigation buttons at the top and side will be there on every page, as before. "Track online" is exactly where it has always been, as is "find your depot" – albeit renamed so as not to assume any prior knowledge of our depot/network system! Once logged in, you'll find everything to hand, in a streamlined form as we've taken the opportunity to remove any anomalies which are no longer relevant to the way people currently use the site.

Let us know what you think!

We welcome your feedback – please let us at your local APC Overnight depot know what works for you, how you use the site, and if you have any suggestions!
